BERKELEY, Calif. (October 27, 2023) – International House (I-House) at UC Berkeley will be holding a panel discussion on China-US Futures: Pathways to Peaceful Coexistence on November 9, 2023. The discussion will explore some of the most challenging and consequential issues facing the world, including: Is a cold war inevitable leading to doomsday scenarios? Are there pathways to peaceful coexistence? What are they? What can be done to build on mutual interests and dampen economic & military confrontation? In the context of the I-House mission, how best to prepare the next generations of international leaders and people-to-people solutions?

We will have respected speakers including Ker Gibbs, Moderator and I-House alumnus, the Executive-in-Residence at the University of San Francisco's Center for Business Studies and Innovation in Asia-Pacific, and the immediate past president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Shanghai. Orville Schell, the Arthur Ross Director of the Center on U.S.-China Relations at Asia Society in New York, and former professor and Dean at the University of California, Berkeley Graduate School of Journalism. Zongyuan Zoe Liu, Maurice R. Greenberg fellow for China studies at the Council on Foreign Relations. Victor Shi, the Director of the 21st Century China Center, the Ho Miu Lam Chair in China and Pacific Relations, and an Associate Professor of Political Economy at the School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego. Andy Rothman is an Investment Strategist at Matthews, responsible for research on China's economy and on U.S. – China relations.

This event is part of the I-House Executive Director's Lodestar Speakers Series, made possible through the generous support of Chevron Corporation.

The panel will be hosted on November 9th starting at 4:30 p.m. PST in Chevron Auditorium at International House, located at 2299 Piedmont Avenue, Berkeley, CA 94720.

This event will be live-streamed. Entrance is free for all! Register now at:
